Key Question 3: How well do the learning experiences meet the needs and interests of learners and the wider community?

Grade 2: Good features and no important shortcomings

94. Learning experiences promote pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural development effectively. Through a range of curricular activities and regular periods such as collective worship and circle time, pupils are encouraged to respect each other and adults. These experiences contribute well towards creating a happy, family ethos within the school.

95. The school provides a good range of extra-curricular, cultural and community activities for the pupils. These include Urdd activities together with a vast number of educational visits that also include residential visits.

96. There is good provision for developing pupils' awareness and understanding of other cultures.
