Dear Mr Coleman,

Re Mawddach Terrace, Private Road, LL39 1BJ

Sometime during this summer a gate to the western end of the private road that runs in front of the houses on Mawddach Terrace, has been tethered and notice has been erected at either entrance to the road. Each sign (in English only) contains a 'no entry' logo and the words 'Stop. Private Property. Please use the footpath to the rear of the houses'.

Having been born in Barmouth and walked across this land for many years, I am of the opinion that a right of way had been established by myself and other users. Please could you advise me whether this is the case, and if not, whether the recent Act enabling the 'right to roam' provides me with such rights.

Yours faithfully
